Copies of this covering letter and the emergency authorisation are being distributed to the Registration Officer(s) of the product's manufacturer and supplier.

Conditions of future emergency authorisation

By their nature, emergency authorisations may be issued without the full range of data which would support a standard authorisation. Therefore, this emergency authorisation specifies data requirements to address the missing information and stewardship measures to provide safeguards which are considered necessary to ensure the protection of health and the environment. HSE may require such data and information to be provided as part of any repeat application for the same use.

Failure to provide this information may be relevant to HSE's assessment of any repeat application for the same use. This information may assist the applicant to demonstrate that the requirements for granting an emergency authorisation are met.

Special circumstances

For this use, we considered special circumstances to be present. However, the longer an emergency situation persists without alternative strategies being introduced, the more challenging it is to justify the existence of special circumstances.

Yours sincerely,
